9 BIG PLANTS WIPED OUT BY $200,000 FIRE.

Miller Building Wrecked and Manufacturing Concerns Destroyed.

HOTEL GUESTS DRIVEN FROM BEDS BY FLAMES; FLEE TO STREET

Where Mercury is Far Below Zero, in Night Garments—Fire Fighters Perform Prodigies of Valor—Many Overcome by Smoke, Two Faint From Exposure to Intense Cold.

CHICAGO, ILL., FEB. 14.—A GIGANTIC BLOCK OF FLAME IN ONE HOUR LAST NIGHT MADE A SHELL OF THE GREAT SIX-STORY MILLER BUILDING, 133-35-37-39 SOUTH CLINTON STREET, BETWEEN ADAMS AND MONROE STREETS, WIPED OUT COMPLETELY NINE MANUFACTURING FIRMS, THREATENED BLOCKS OF MANUFACTURERS AND CAUSED A TOTAL LOSS OF $200,000.

A SOLID MASS OF FLAMES THAT FILLED THE GREAT BUILDING FROM 9:30 TO 10:30 O'CLOCK WAS UNAPPROACHABLE AND AS MOLTEN MASSES OF IRON FROM THE MACHINERY CRASHED TO THE BOTTOM THROUGH THE WEAKENING FLOORS, A PERFECT VOLCANO OF FIREBRANDS WERE SWEEP OVER THE BUILDINGS FOR BLOCKS IN EVERY DIRECTION, DRIVING PEOPLE FROM THEIR HOMES IN TERROR.

Fireman Clad in Ice.

WOMEN AND GUESTS RAN FROM THE HOTEL RIGA INTO THE NIGHT IN THEIR NIGHT GARMENTS AND BARE FEET COLLAPSING IN THE ARMS OF FIREMEN AND SPECTATORS. THE HOTEL RIGA, CORNER OF ADAMS AND CLINTON STREETS, WAS SEPARATED BY BUT A FEW BUILDINGS FROM THE ROARING, RAGING SIX-STORY FURNACE.

WITH THE MERCURY AT 14 BELOW ZERO, THE FLIMS WOODEN CONSTRUCTION OF THE INTERIOR YIELDING READILY TO THE FLAMES, A STRONG SOUTHERN WIND FANNING THE FIRE TO FURY, THEIR EQUIPMENT SLIPPERY WITH ICE AND A RAIN OF FIREBRANDS AND CINDERS PELTING DOWN, THE FIREMEN FOUGHT VALIANTLY AND RISKED THEIR LIVES EVERY MOMENT.

SENT INNOCENT BROTHER TO PEN

Dying Man Confesses to a Double Crime—Set Fire to a Barn.

Then Fixed Crime Upon His Brother, So as to Get Him Out of the Way.

of the fire, his story was not believed. Two weeks ago his brother David died. The day previous to his death he sent for James and to him in the presence of others confessed to having set fire to the barn of the City Trucking company. He said he did it because he wanted to get even with Jim and get him out of the way. He thought Jim was trying to get his job away from him. The brothers were both of quick temper and had often quarreled. Previous to the fire, for some time they had been bitter enemies. On his death bed David recounted of the wrong he had done his brother and as the latter stood at the bedside, he said to him: "Jim, I want you to forgive me. I set that barn on fire. I can't do until I hear it from you that you forgive me." The wronged man told his brother that he would forgive him. A reconciliation followed. The old enemies were buried, and the man who had served for two years in prison for his brother's crime went home. After the funeral he was installed as foreman at the trucking company's stables. The story of the confession did not leak out until yesterday.

Port Wayne Ind., Feb. 14.—A dying man has confessed to having sent his brother to prison for arson, of which he himself was guilty. In the winter of 1898-99 the large stables of the City Trucking company in this city were burned to the ground and three horses and much other valuable property was destroyed. Indications pointed to it being of incendiary origin and a few days afterward James Jacobs, who had previously been burnt foreman but who had been discharged from the employ of the company several months before, was arrested on the charge of setting fire to the stables. The information that led to his arrest was given by his brother David Jacobs, who at the time of the fire was burnt foreman and it was principally on his brother's evidence that James was convicted when the case came to trial. He was convicted of arson and sent to the penitentiary. After serving two years he was paroled and returned to this city. From the first he stoutly maintained his innocence but, as he was seen around the barn on the night

STORIES OF GRAFT SENATOR AND CONGRESSMEN INDICTED

And Stories Were Told at an Inquiry in Cleveland.

Cleveland, Ohio, Feb. 14.—For over two hours today the Board of Public Service probed the charges of ex-State Senator Ferd Eggers, brick manufacturer, that the City Sewer Inspectors have been enforcing a grafting tribute from contractors. The sensational developments of the meeting came when the tables were turned on Eggers and imputations were cast against him. Patrick Graham, an Inspector, said that Eggers had endeavored to have him bequeathed in dealing with Eggers's brick, and that after the conversation Eggers took him to a saloon, where he was supplied with a dinner, a glass of beer and some cigars. James Hunt, an Inspector, told of a transaction where money was offered, he charged, for the rejection of brick made by one concern and the passing of a favorable opinion on brick manufactured by another. Eggers denied any connection with this.

man you would meet if you wanted to go into the place, and he was closer to Holmes than any one that I know." Earlier in the day W. A. Shayer, a carpenter, who was frequently in the castle while Holmes was in possession, faced Koch, and identified him as the man Jake.

PURELY PERSONAL AFFAIRS. Koch made a statement today that his matrimonial ventures were not love affairs.

"I want to correct one impression of me given the public," he continued. "All are lead to believe I am a regular Romeo. I am not. I did not love any of my wives. I have no use for women. It was purely a business proposition with me. When I found they had money then I went after that. When I got it I left them. They had no charms for me. I advertised for women over 45. I found they were easier to separate from their money. Flattery was my chief stock in trade. You can win a woman quicker that way than any other."

Mrs. Emeline Fischer-Koch, the latest wife of Johann Koch, called upon him today to make a demand for her money. After Koch had been brought from a cell into Police Inspector Shippy's office she said:

"John, you have got my money and I want it. Give it to me if you have any heart at all, for I need every cent."

Unmoved by the earnest plea, Koch answered: "Now, my dear, don't get excited. You will get all your money back, and more if you do the right thing. All of these stories about me are false. You leave me alone and you will come out all right. Wait and we will talk it over later."

The woman did not make any reply and the interview was at an end. A special detail of detectives has been set at work in an effort to locate the drug store at which Koch is supposed to have purchased the arsenic which they will endeavor to prove was administered to Mrs. Marie Welcker-Koch. The post-mortem examination disclosed three grains in the woman's stomach.

EPILEPTIC SUBJECT.

Mrs. Edna Booth, who for some time has been an inmate at the county infirmary, was this morning declared by Judge Miller to be an epileptic and will be taken to the epileptic hospital at Gailopolis as soon as possible. Her folks live in Indiana.

GUARDIAN FROM WYANDOT.

Snariff Keltner, of Wyandot county, was in the city today and called on the officials at the court house.

Senator Mitchell, Representative Williamson and Others Charged With Fraud and Conspiracy.

More Than $3,000,000 in Land Involved—Former United States District Attorney Indicted on Charge of Conspiracy to Defraud.

PORTLAND, ORE., FEB. 14.—THE UNITED STATES GRAND JURY LATE YESTERDAY RETURNED AN INDICTMENT CHARGING U. S. SENATOR MITCHELL, CONGRESSMAN JOHN W. WILLIAMSON AND BINGER BERMANN AND OTHERS WITH HAVING CONSPIRED TO HAVE CREATED THE BLUE MOUNTAIN FOREST RESERVE IN EASTERN OREGON, WITH THE INTENT OF DEFRAUDING THE GOVERNMENT OF PUBLIC LANDS AND ALSO OF CONSPIRING TO OBTAIN POSSESSION OF MORE THAN 200,000 ACRES OF PUBLIC AND SCHOOL LANDS SITUATED IN SEVERAL STATES OF THE VALUE OF MORE THAN $3,000,000.

CASSIE CHADWICK

Will Probably Be Tried First on a Charge of Conspiracy.

Cleveland, O., Feb. 14.—J. P. Dawson, chief counsel for Mrs. Chadwick, appeared before United States Judge Taylor today, and asked that the District Attorney make public upon what charge his client would first be tried. In reply District Attorney Sullivan said that as the grand jury was still in session and hearing testimony relative to the Chadwick and other criminal cases he could not tell definitely upon what indictment the woman would be tried until the latter part of the present week, when he expected the grand jury would complete its work. Mr. Sullivan added, however, that Mrs. Chadwick would probably be placed first on trial on the charge of conspiracy as covered by Section 540 of the Federal statutes. The section in question reads as follows:

"If two or more persons conspire either to commit any offense against the United States in any manner or for any purpose, and one or more of such parties do any act to effect the object of the conspiracy all the parties to such conspiracy shall be liable to a penalty of not more than $10,000 or to imprisonment in the discretion of the Court."

The indictment against Mrs. Chadwick alleging conspiracy charges her with acting with President Beckwith and Cashier Spear of the Citizens National Bank at Oberlin, to violate the statutes of the United States with regard to such law.

MAYOR TOM
Called a Liar by a Cleveland Councilman During an Exciting Meeting.

Cleveland, Ohio, February 14.—Never before in the history of Cleveland did personal and political passion rule in a City Council meeting such as was witnessed here tonight. Perhaps the most sensational feature of the meeting was the passing of the Councilman A. J. Halleling's resolution to censure Mayor Tom L. Johnson.

President Lapp called Halleling to order, but bitter invective continued to rule the debate.

The passion displayed was the outgrowth of charges by the mayor that the Cleveland Electric Illuminating company controls the council. The discussion tonight was raised through a resolution requesting the mayor to file any charges he had against any member in writing so that the council could proceed to try such a member.

The resolution was passed. Another one was also introduced, which bars everybody from the council floor except the members and newspaper men. The resolution is aimed directly at the mayor, but since it cannot be passed without close readings of a vote of two thirds of the members the resolution will not become legal for two weeks.

"ISLE OF SPICE"
WILL OPEN NEW THEATER AT WAPAKONETA.
Wapakoneta, O., Feb. 14.—The fine new opera house, to be known as the Brown theatre, is rapidly nearing completion and Tuesday, March 14, has been fixed as the date for the opening performance. The well known opera house will seat 1,100 people and has as large a stage as any theatre in northwestern Ohio. The auditorium contains three floors with 12 commodious boxes on the sides. The entrance is on the ground floor.

REBEKAH, FRI. EVE., FEB. 17.

COLDEST WEATHER CITY HAS HAD FOR YEARS.

Fourteen Degrees Below Zero at 2 O'clock This Morning—Now Warming Up and Temperature Will Continue to Rise.

This is the most terribly trying cold weather this part of the country has had for many years. Some of the thermometers showed fourteen degrees below zero at midnight in this city. The coldest February weather in the city's record occurred on February 9th, 1899, when it reached 17 degrees below zero. We passed through the coldest part of the cold wave between four o'clock yesterday afternoon and last midnight and in New York state and Pennsylvania they are getting today what we got yesterday. It was just sixteen degrees warmer this afternoon than yesterday afternoon, but Oh, the wind.

their schedule not only from the heavy snow falls in different sections, but because the cold made it almost impossible to keep steam up to the required gauge.

As night came on the rapid drop in the temperature made conditions still more unpleasant though the wind fell a little with the setting of the sun.

The weather prediction from White Station is for rising temperature today and this forecast is strengthened by reports from the northwest where there is a general warming up. In St. Paul the temperature had risen from 25 below zero to 1 below, while in Montana and the Canadian northwest temperatures from 6 to 36 above zero were recorded.

Coldest Since 1899.

On Feb. 11, Feb. 11. Yesterday, the coldest in the history of Chicago since 1899, the official thermometer registered 18 below in the morning. On the street it was even lower. Six years ago the mercury ran down three degrees lower, but the intense cold came gradually, whereas yesterday's North Pole weather descended of a sudden.

All railroad trains were away off

They reached Steubenville at night, but Dennis and Amelia were heartbroken when told that no license could be issued because the girl was but 15 years old. Back they tramped through the drifts, reaching the father's home last night. They begged forgiveness. ## HOME AND MONEY GONE

MRS. MCFEE TELLS HOW FATHER JOHN'S MEDICINE SAVED HER LIFE WHEN THE DOCTORS GAVE HER UP.

Many times I have wished I could stand on the housetop and tell the world what a blessing Father John's medicine has been to me. All my life I have been doctoring. I had a systemic attack, and four years ago pneumonia made a wreck of me. Oh, how I suffered! God above knows I brought my family to want paying doctors' bills. I have had six doctors, but my cough was killing me. Every few weeks I had hemorrhages. My doctors gave me up, and my friends looked for me to die. For my children's sake I hoped and prayed to get well. I saw home and money gone, but no relief. I thank God for directing my attention to Father John's Medicine. I can do all my work and feel like a new person since taking it. It is a blessing, may it be to all who suffer. It is the wish of one it has helped. (Signed) Mrs. H. McFee, 2139 Randolph St., Phila., Pa.

TRAINS

Tied Up in Snow Drifts

AND THE RAILROAD BOYS WERE ON SWEARING TERMS WITH THE WEATHER MAN TODAY.

With the strong southwest wind today, coupled with the cold wave, the railroad trainmen are today having their troubles.

Some of the trouble started last night on the Findlay branch of the C. H. and D. railroad. "York State Folks" which is the attraction at Faarot's tonight, were held up in a snow drift while on their way to Findlay last night and did not reach that city until about eight o'clock, delaying the performance some time.

There were several snow drifts along this division and the car containing the company's scenery, was snowed in up to noon today. Trains along the main line were handicapped in a similar way, but this afternoon things were pretty well opened up between this city and Dayton.

As a general proposition it is the fellow who does not get his name in the paper very often who makes the most noise if it is not spelled correctly.

Preachers have their revenge.
There is no punishment any worse than for a sleepy man to try to stay awake so the balance of the congregation will not notice it.

Machen, the postal thief, has been given a place as bookkeeper in the Moundsville penitentiary. He will keep them, all right, if he lives up to his reputation for keeping things that were not his.

A woman in Chicago has obtained indemnity against a railway company because the conductor squeezed her hand. Any woman who would want any other reward than having her hand squeezed is not our kind of a woman.

All right, old Mister Winter, you have been giving it to us for these many weeks, but the time's a-coming when you're through. The robins have left Florida, the sun's getting up pretty high in the heavens, the sap is creeping up the roots of the sugar-maple, and your durned old form is becoming bent and twisted.
You've been a good 'un, all right, you have, and you've cost us a lot of money—and almost wrecked our religion—but we're onto you and we chuckle when we think of the time that you will have to run like the dickens or melt in the middle of the road. Besides, we've got a good deal of ginger left in us yet, and we will be a-kicking clouds upon your coffin and laughing when they rattle upon you in less than 60 days, maybe!

PRESIDENT AND SENATE.

United States senators are extremely jealous of the rights of that body, and in some instances carry this jealousy to the edge of narrowness, as was evidenced Saturday in the clash with President Roosevelt over the arbitration treaties. By an overwhelming vote the senate refused to accede to the President's forcibly expressed objection to the committee's amendments substituting the word treaty for agreement. The President emphatically asserts these ident considering the proposition as an effort to influence the senate's action.

The breach will not be serious. The point at issue is not of enough moment to involve the two departments who of the government in a disastrous dash. To the ordinary citizen it would seem that the senators are strict constructionists of the most radical type and that so far as international arbitration is concerned, the treaties, or agreements, will be safe with the executive department.

THE MAN WHO SMILES.

The worst abused man in the world is the one who smiles. The fellow who whines thinks he is abused, but as a matter of fact he has the best of it in everything. It is the fellow who doesn't complain that is imposed upon.

Make a test of the assertion in some family. Take a family of boys, brought up under the same roof. One of them is of the happy-go-lucky variety, always in a good humor, never complaining about anything—if he can't find socks that are mates, he wears odd ones, and if he can't find odd ones he wouldn't care much if he had to go without any. The other boys are of the every-day variety—wanting all that is theirs and a part of somebody's else's, and raising a rumpus every time anything goes wrong. Does mother see to it that the good-natured one is not imposed upon? Not a bit of it. Mother likes peace, and she takes from the happy one and gives to the others, because she knows the happy one will not complain.

And it is the same all through the human race. If there are sisters who are "Sunshine and Tempest," Sunshine combs her hair in a shattered mirror, while Tempest enjoys the whole dresser. Sunshine sits farthest away from the fire on a cold morning, while Tempest warms her back. Sunshine can always wear a dress a few weeks longer without making a racket and Tempest has the best clothes.

Suppose you owe little bills to Mr.
Grouchy, whose hardened face would crack the crystal on a Waterbury watch, and to Mr. Jolly, who meets you with a hearty handshake and wants to know, with a laugh, if it is cold enough for you. And suppose you have just enough money to pay one of the bills. What do you do?
Oh, no; you do not pay each one 50

WORD

Received This Morning
From Florida

ANNOUNCING THE DEATH OF WILLIAM MARTIN, WHO
ONE WEEK AGO.

"Billie" Martin, the well known printer, who left this city one week ago yesterday for Bradenton, Florida, he having been a sufferer for a long time from lung trouble, passed away last night and a telegram was received this morning conveying the sad news to the mother, brothers and sister. It was hoped at the time of his departure that the change would prove of a beneficial nature and that he would rapidly recover and a telegram was received from him at Jacksonville, Florida, to the effect that he was feeling much improved, but it seems he grew rapidly worse after reaching his destination and fell into that quiet sleep which knows no waking.

The remains will be brought to this city for burial and will be taken to the home of his brother, James Martin, on Prospect avenue.

"Billie" as he was familiarly known, was an exemplary young man, for a long time was foreman of the DAILY NEWS composing room and later years with the Gazette. He was in the prime of life and unmarried.

Chapter I.—The Sirdar, having among her passengers Iris Deane, daughter of the owner of the ship, and Robert Jenks, who is working as a waiter, is wrecked.

II.—All are lost save Miss Deane and Jenks, who are cast ashore on an island in the Pacific.

III.—Jenks recovers stores and weapons from the wrecked vessel. He finds the skeleton of a European on the island.

IV.—A cave on the island is fitted up as a habitation. A chart of the island, mysteriously marked, is found on the skeleton.

V.—Jenks finds a hollow filled with human skeletons, the remains of a mining party. He is rescued from an octopus by Iris while recovering rifles from the wreck of the Sirdar.

VI.—Jenks tells Iris that his real name is Anstruther and that, through the machinations of Lord Ventnor, he has been unjustly dismissed in disgrace from the English army. Lord Ventnor has been mentioned on the Sirdar as affianced to Iris.

VII.—Iris is attacked by a party of fierce Dyaks (Polynesian natives). They are beaten off by Jenks, three, however, escaping in their boat. The castaways dread their return.

VIII.—Anstruther prepares to defend Iris and himself, fortifying a ledge of the rock above their cave.

munition, and what spot could be more suitable than the cave?

So Jenks began to dig once more in the interior, laboring manfully with pick and shovel in the locality of the fault with its vein of antimony.

Rainbow island had given him the one thing a man prizes above all else—a pure yet passionate love for a woman beautiful alike in body and mind. And now it was to endow him with riches that might stir the pulse of even a South African magnate, for the sailor, unimpaired of purpose other than providing the requisite cache, shoveling and delving with the energy peculiar to all his actions, suddenly struck a deep vein of almost virgin gold.

To facilitate the disposal at a distance of the disturbed debris he threw each shovelful on to a canvas sheet, which he subsequently dragged among the trees in order to dislodge its contents. After doing this four times he noticed certain metallic specks in the fifth load which recalled the presence of the antimony. But the appearance of the sixth cargo was so remarkable when brought out into the sunlight that it invited closer inspection. Though his knowledge of geology was slight, he was forced to believe that the specimens he handled so dubiously contained neither copper nor iron pyrites, but glittering yellow gold. Their weight, the distribution of the metal through quartz in a transition state between an oxide and a telluride, compelled recognition.

Somewhat excited, yet half skeptical, he returned to the excavation and scooped out yet another collection. This time there could be no mistake. Nature's own alchemy had fashioned a veritable ingot. There were small lumps in the ore, which would only need alloy at the mint before they could be issued as sovereigns, so free from dross were they.

His hand gone to Venus' bath and would be absent for some time. Jenks sat down on a tree stump. He held in his hand a small bit of ore worth perhaps £20. Slowly, the conjectures already peering together in his mind during early days on the island came back to him.

The skeleton of an Englishman lying there among the bushes near the well, the Golgotha of the poison filled hollow, the mining tools, both Chinese and European; the plan on the piece of tin—ah, the piece of tin! Mechanically the sailor produced it from the breast pocket of his jersey. At last the mysterious sign "32 divided by 1" revealed its significance. Measure thirty-two feet from the mouth of the tunnel, dig one foot in depth, and you came upon the mother lode of this gold bearing rock. This, then, was the secret of the cave.

The Chinese knew the richness of the deposit and exploited its treasures by quarrying from the outer side of the hill. But their crass ignorance of modern science led to their undoing. The accumulation of liberated carbonic acid gas in the workings killed them in scores. They probably fought this unseen demon with the tenacity of their race until the place became accursed and banned of all living things. Yet had they dug a little ditch and permitted the inevitable terror to flow quietly downward until its potency was dissipated by sea and air they might

At that moment he looked up and saw her coming toward him across the beach, brightly flushed after her bath, walking like a nymph clothed in tattered garments. Perceiving that he was watching her, she waved her hand and instinctively quickened her pace. Even now, when they were thrown together by the exigencies of each hour, she disliked to be long separated from him.

Instantly the scales fell from his mental vision. What! Distrust Iris! Imagine for one second that riches or poverty, good repute or ill, would affect that loyal heart when its original foot was filled with the love that once in her life comes to every true woman! Perish the thought!

Laughing at his fantastic folly Jenks tore the letter into little pieces. It might have been wiser to throw the sheets into the embers of the fire close at hand, but for the nonce he was overpowered by the great awakening that had come to him.

"Good gracious! Don't gaze at me in that fashion. I don't look like a ghost, do I?" cried Iris, when near enough to note his rapt expression.

"You would not object if I called you a vision?" he inquired quietly, averting his eyes lest they should speak more plainly than his tongue.

"Not if you meant it nicely. But I fear that 'specter' would be a more appropriate word. Just look at my best gown!"

She spread out the front widths of her skirt, and certainly the prospect was lamentable. The dress was so patched and mended, yet so full of fresh rents, that a respectable housemaid would hesitate before using it to clean fire irons.

"Is that really your best dress?" he said.

"Yes. This is my blue serge. The brown cloth did not survive the soaking it received in salt water. After a few days it simply crumbled. The others are muslin or cotton and have been—er—adapted."

"There is plenty of men's clothing," he began.

"Unfortunately there isn't another island," she said severely.

"No. I meant that it might be possible to—er—contrive some sort of rig that will serve all purposes."

"But all my thread is gone. I have barely a needle left."

"In that case we must fall back on our supply of hemp."

"I suppose that might be made to serve," she said. "You are never at a loss for an expedient."

"It will be a poor one, I fear. But you can make up for it by buying some nice gowns at Doucet's or Worth's."

She laughed delightedly. "Perhaps in his joy at my reappearance my dear

Short Skirts? No!

Now comes the decree, "Thou shalt not wear long skirts." In the name of Chicago's suffering womanhood, in the name of a microbe infested city, yes, and in the name of common decency, say the doctors, the police must enforce the measure.

Why sweep up the microbes and the germs with a trailing skirt and transplant them from their native heath into the drawing-room?

It is time drastic measures were taken to protect the innocent microbes, say their defenders—and so the long skirt is doomed. It must go.

Hear what Dr. C. E. Humiston, professor of surgery in Harvey Medical College, had to say on the subject to the Chicago Medical Society.

"A policeman should be stationed on the street corners," he declared emphatically, "to arrest not only the man who spits on the sidewalk, but the woman who allows her long skirt to drag."

That should settle the question. Therefore it is vale to the trailing chignons, foulards and surahs and welcome, with a blaze of ankles and hosiery, the abbreviated skirt.

"Will we cut off their skirts when we catch them long?" ask the police.

The suggestion that a flying skirt squadron be added to the department meets with some favor. Clubs, pistols and handcuffs will be replaced by scissors, tape measures and sewing pads, so that the officer may successfully hem the garment.

"Shure, I'm a candidate for the skirt squad," enthusiastically exclaimed one of the city's "finest." "I'm up in jui justu, but I ain't so much on the scissors. Gimme a good butcher knife an' I'll trim off them microbes."

And what do the women say? Those with the shapely feet and the high French heel footwear declare it will be a fine idea.

"I think it would be an outrage. I'd sooner wear trousers," quoth another.

"They'll make us wear bloomers next," remarked the stenographer.

Baked Mushrooms.

Toast for each person a large slice of bread, and spread over with rich cream. Lay on each slice, head downward, one mushroom if large, several if small. Season highly, adding as much cream as it will hold. Place over each a custard cup, pressing well down on the toast; set in moderate oven and cook 15 minutes. Do not remove the cups for 5 minutes after taking out, thereby preserving the flavor of the mushroom.

Will Celebrate.

Washington's birthday will be celebrated by the pupils of the Market Street Presbyterian Sunday school, with appropriate exercises on February 22nd.

Valentine Luncheon.

A Valentine luncheon recently given in the east was very cleverly planned the menu cards bearing these delicacies:

- White Hearts
Love's Broth with Heart Crotons
Early Loves ..... Brown Hearts
Heart Croquettes ..... Cupid's Defense
Jellied Hearts ..... Heart Sandwiches
Quaking Hearts ..... Cold Hearts
Sweethearts ..... Psyche's Kisses
Heart Whips
This the housekeeper easily translated so as to read:
Heart Canapes
Veal Broth ..... Heart Crotons
Squid Broth ..... Browned Potatoes
Corn Croquettes ..... Arrow Rolls
Jellied Shrimp Salad
Heart Sandwiches
Orange Jelly ..... Model Ice Cream
Little Cakes ..... Kisses
Cocoa with Whipped Cream

The woman who can use scissors to advantage and who is, withal, a good housekeeper, can plan and give a smart luncheon for Valentine's Day without dipping too heavily into her purse. Red and gold are conceded to be the fitting colors for those who follow in the wake of the time-honored saint, and a variety of decorations can be fashioned from stiff cartridge or soft crepe paper. Tinted paper cupids are usually procurable in the stores, and on this occasion they were used as adjuncts to paper hearts and arrows, true lovers' knots and similar devices. The decorations for one table were a center piece of red crepe paper, circular and very full—a sort of sunburst effect—on which was placed a heart shaped glass bowl lined with gilt foil and filled with red roses. Above it hung from the chandelier a skeleton heart of crepe paper and paper roses, from the apex of which narrow red ribbons extended to each corner and terminated in small heart shaped place cards.

The marriage of Miss Mary Wilhelm and Mr. L. A. Feltz, will be an event of the month. The marriage will occur sometime within the next week or so, at St. Rose church. Mr. Feltz is connected with the Citizens' Building & Loan Co.

Pleasantly Surprised.

Mr. J. H. Baker, of 430 Washington street, teacher of the Eastown school, was very much surprised by the appearance of his pupils at his home on Saturday evening. Games filled up the hours and a very appetizing supper was served later. In the party of merry makers were: Miss Bertha Smith, Miss Fannie Shimmaberg, Miss Myra Smith, Miss Dorie Shimmaberg, Miss Jessie Meyer, Miss Mary John, Miss Nella John, Miss Helen Beckman, Miss Grace Desenberg, Miss Edith Bechtel, Miss Ethel Knittle, Mr. Harley Desenberg, Mr. Cleveland East, Mr. Lee Beckman, Mr. Frank Smith, Mr. Clarence John, Mr. Herman Bechtel, Mr. Wesley Barriek, Mr. Cloyd Knittle.

No. 117, one of the big street cars, cut a funny caper at the intersection of Main and Kibby yesterday afternoon. The front trucks pursued their regular course toward the C. &amp; E., but the rear trucks took a liking to the Kibby street line, and when a halt was called the car occupied a very unusual position at that corner, the front end facing east Kibby. It required considerable time to coax the rear half into the right route. Someone intimated that the street railway people were short of cars and were trying to make one car on the work of two.

PORTO RICANS

DISSATISFIED

Feeling of Unrest pervades the Islanders.

INVESTIGATION IS NEEDED

WIDESPREAD POVERTY EXISTS AND THOUSANDS ARE IDLE—CAPITALISTS DO NOT LOOK OUTLOOK.

Washington, Feb. 14.—News from Porto Rico indicates that the people of the island are getting restless and dissatisfied. The feeling is said to be general, and a bill has recently been introduced in the house of delegates calling for the establishment of Porto Rico as an independent territory under United States protectorate to be known as the state of Porto Rico. It is a peculiar mixture of sovereign and of dependent powers. The local press style, it is proposed, the Puerto Rican, and a considerable support and approval has been given to the measure.

The situation in the island is not yet clear, but American residents express the feeling that some action must be taken. There is only one form which such action might readily and properly take, and that would be a full and fair-minded investigation of the causes of Porto Rico's discontent, and in the event of a valid cause being revealed, a removal of them. The Porto Ricans did not ask to come under the control of the United States, although hoping for an improvement of their condition they did extend a very cordial welcome to Amer-

AMUSEMENTS

That most delightful of all rural comedies, "York State Folks," which has won its place at the head of the list of great plays of American country life, will be seen with the entire original cast and the complete scenic production at the Fawcett opera house tonight. Fred E. Wright brings the company and production direct from a triumphal three months run at the handsomest of the new theatres of the country, the Majestic Boston. "York State Folks" packed the Great Northern, Chicago, for two months previous to the Boston engagement, and then did what no other play ever accomplished in the latter theatre in keeping a theatre open all summer long, with the orchestra under the stage at every performance after the first week. The present tour brings all the originals of the great cast, including Ray L. Royce, as Myron Cooper, James Lackaye as Simon Peter Martin, Harry Crosby as Lem Dunbar, and all the other favorites, and the magnificent scenic mounting prepared especially for the Boston run. The settings for the "Maple Land" scene, the wagon shop scene and the dream scene of the finale are said to be especially effective. The unique finale, in which a full vested choir of boys sopranos appear, is one of the most striking of stage pictures.

The excellent company of which Mr. James J. Corbett, Mr. Hal Davis and Miss Irene Macaulay are the bright particular stars, will appear at the Fawcett opera house on Thursday evening in "Fals," the play that will be brought out is a new comedy drama by Mr. Edmund Day and is said to be far superior to anything attempted at popular prices this present season. These artists are not new to our patrons and everyone remembers them for their good work on previous visits. The production is under the personal direction of Mr. Hal Davis who also has staged the play "Be Natural" advertisement given to Mr. Hal Davis to the actors and actresses of "Fals." He knows how every part should be played but aside from giving the artists some general directions as to the character he or she is to interpret he wants an original delineation. This is the greatest success of "Fals." There is an air of naturalness that impresses the audience with a feeling that the players are not trying but living the character that they are supposed to impersonate.

A prominent dramatic critic, speaking of this play, after witnessing its first performance says: "The greatest thing I saw in the history of the theatre was the play 'Be Natural' advertisement given to Mr. Hal Davis to the actors and actresses of 'Fals.' In which will be shown the most complete assortments of White Goods, Embroideries, Laces and Muslin Underwear ever placed on sale by any store in this city.

OUR POLICY FOR 1905—It can be stated in the simplest terms. It is to sell dependable goods at the lowest possible prices; to maintain the highest standard of merchandising in order that we may command the complete and permanent satisfaction of our customers. Our patrons are to receive the fullest values for the money they expend, and they are to know from comparison that our prices are the lowest when quality of goods is taken into consideration; some times actually lower than charged for inferior goods elsewhere. Summarizing this feature we say that while we shall always quote the very lowest prices, we do not regard cheapness of quality a desirable end for the customer to seek. The goods we shall sell will be reliable; if they are not no low price will remedy the defect and its consequent injury to our business. Therefore, our price policy will be—The Lowest on Good Goods.
